

Unable to work?

The CNE supports you

ARE YOU UNABLE TO WORK DUE TO ILLNESS OR AN ACCIDENT? THEN YOU ARE "UNABLE TO WORK" AND COVERED BY SOCIAL LEGISLATION. THE TRADE UNIONS HAVE IN FACT CONQUERED WHAT IS KNOWN AS THE GUARANTEED SALARY FOR THE SICK: YOU CONTINUE TO RECEIVE YOUR SALARY DURING YOUR CONVALESCENCE, PROVIDED THAT YOU RESPECT CERTAIN RULES. THE CNE TEAM GUIDES YOU THROUGH THE STEPS TO TAKE.

INFORMATION FOR THE EMPLOYER

Inform your employer immediately. The law does not lay down any specific procedures: you can do this by telephone, e-mail, via a colleague or a member of your family. But remember to keep a written record, useful in the event of a possible dispute, by confirming your call by e-mail, for example.

MEDICAL CERTIFICATE

If this is provided for in the work regulations or if the employer requests it, you must submit a medical certificate to your employer. Keep a record of this. The deadline for submitting this medical certificate may be specified in the employment regulations. If it is not specified, the deadline for sending it is two working days (and receipt may take place after the deadline has passed).

MEDICAL CHECK-UP

The employer has the right to have your incapacity for work checked by a medical officer of his choice, either at your home or at his office (the cost of travel is then borne by the employer). The examining doctor only checks whether you are unable to work, the probable duration of your incapacity and the medical data needed to apply the legislation (existence of a relapse, occupational origin, etc.). All other questions are covered by professional secrecy. The examining doctor is not entitled to communicate the diagnosis to the employer, nor to interfere with the treatment prescribed by your doctor.

If you do not agree with the examining doctor's decision, you can initiate the procedure for appointing an arbitrating doctor. In this case, contact the CNE team in your company or the CNE secretariat in your region.

THE GUARANTEED SALARY

If you fulfil these obligations, you are entitled to 1 month's guaranteed pay from the first day of your incapacity for work, entirely at the employer's expense. Are you employed on a fixed-term contract of less than three months or a blue-collar worker? If you have been working for less than a month, the mutual insurance company will pay your compensation from the first week. If you have been working for more than one month, your guaranteed salary is weekly: your employer pays you 100% of your salary the first week, a little less the following three weeks and the mutual insurance company pays the full amount.

If you do not comply with the above obligations, you will not receive your guaranteed salary until you remedy the situation (except in cases of force majeure or for legitimate reasons, which you can invoke before the labour court).

If your incapacity to work lasts longer than one month, you will be covered by the health insurance scheme (www.inami.fgov.be) and paid for by your mutual insurance company.
